

Accelerated Psychic Development psychic courses/readings

The question I have been asked often is "how do I get to the level you're at?"

My answer is that it is quite simple, but challenging. Similar to learning how to drive, the more you do it the easier it becomes. All the courses that I teach are geared towards accelerated and responsible psychic development.

So, what is psychic development? It is the development of the psyche to an increased vibrational level that allows a person access to energetic frequencies that currently vibrate faster than they do. This includes mediumship, higher-self energies, clairvoyance, healing and spiritual awareness.

It has been my experience over the years of teaching psychic development that the minimum people can expect from embracing this aspect of the self is a dramatic increase in a deep internal confidence and calm. The meditations used in both the home course and attended courses help to drive people to this part within themselves. I am keen to emphasize I have not been whacked on the head with the magic stick I have simply embraced a part of the self everyone can do if they put their mind to it. The active development of the sixth sense of a person means you can 'see around corners' so to speak and bravely engage the energies of the unseen to help with all aspects of life, a very useful tool in my opinion.

So how do we accelerate our psychic development? Make it a habit to monitor your mental-emotional state through self-observation. Something that isn't always easy with the busy lives we lead in the 21st century. "Did I lock the back door? What shall I get for dinner? Is it time to pick the kids up?" That's why the sound behind every track of the courses I offer helps to slow the brain waves. It makes it child's play to then observe the mind. Fear, fear, fear is what holds people back. If you think about it, fear is the single thing that holds anyone back from all aspects of their life. Can you imagine what your life would be if all your fears were in moderation? My answer is wonderful! Life becomes wonderfully peaceful and much more in balance. Anything that appears in its first instance to be a major challenge or difficulty suddenly finds a place of balance very quickly. I once tackled the majority of my fears all in one go. I did everything that I imagined myself to be frightened of, from stock car racing to changing jobs, location and familiar surroundings. My psychic skills increased ten fold as any blocks to my sub-conscious conveniently removed themselves. My accuracy skills and healing ability went through the roof. Again, no magic stick was involved.
