

If you are thinking about having a psychic reading, you need to know the difference between a good quality reading and a scam!

Quality Readings

There are many psychics that are for real and some that are just looking to exploit your beliefs and take your money. If you are thinking of having someone read for you, you should be wary of a few things.

There are many ways to distinguish between the real deal and the phonies. A real psychic reads energy patterns while a phony reads body language and facial expressions to make a forecast.

Here are a few examples of what your body can say about you.

- Expensive jewelry which would indicate wealth.
- Rough or scaled hands would relate that the subject works with their hands.
- Posture can send a message whether the subject is confident, happy, depressed or anxious.

Psychic Analysis Tips

- Do not have personal conversations with the psychic prior to your reading.
- Do not reveal anything about yourself. A fake will trick you into revealing small details about yourself that can offer them insight into your life.
- Do not ask any questions and be wary if your reader asks you any questions in return. An authentic psychic doesn't need to ask you any questions in order to read for you.
- Anyone asking you to buy a magic spell is a guaranteed phony.
